CARLTON COLE
MAYOR AT NEW
LENOX RESIGNS

With the moving to Park Ridge of the Carlton Cole family, many persons are wondering what about the office of Mayor for New Lenox, as Mr. Cole held that office.

At the last village board meeting Mr. Cole presented his resignation. According to the law, Mr. Walter Baer, an elected village nance, he is next in line to be trustee and appointed to office of commissioner of accounts and acting mayor. The board has the authority to either appoint a person to fill Mr. Cole's place or hold an election. Mr. Baer, who is acting mayor, may be appointed by the board, to remain acting mayor or an election may be held to elect a person to that office. As elections are costly, that may not be resorted to.

Telephones Mother

Mrs. Clayton Coborn of Mokena was over-joyed last Thursday morning when she was surprised to receive a telephone call from her son Fremont from Guam.

Fremont has been in service on the island of Guam with the U. S. Navy in the radio department since April. He said he was well and has gained 10 pounds. He inquired about all his old chums.

Fremont was recalled into the service in April and at that time was sent to Seattle, from where he flew on the ship "Mars" to the Marrianna Islands.

BARN ON HENRY KOLLMAN FARM
STRUCK BY LIGHTNING; BURNED

During the severe electrical storm Saturday night lightning struck the barn on the Henry Kollman farm at 11 p. m.

Fire departments from Tinley Park, Oak Forest, Homewood Acres, Markham and Midlothian quickly responded to their call, and only through the efficient team work of the entire group

As we went to press last week the following had filed petitions to be listed as candidates for the District 210 Board of Education, George Bovee and Lester Case of Manhattan, J. Earl Robinson of New Lenox, Albert Krusemark, Jr., Lawrence Kohl, J. Scott Perry and Charles Swanberg, of Frankfort townships. Since then three others have filed, James A. Dixon, Frankfort, representing Lincoln Estates), Raymond Reiter and Daniel T. Walker, of New Lenox, the latter championed by a school group of Mokena, it is reported.

Five filed their petitions before last day of filing. At 10:30 that morning, Daniel Walker filed, and during the afternoon Lester B. Case filed at 2:55, James A. Dixon filed at 2:56, Raymond Reiter, 2:57, and J. Earl Robinson at 2:58.

Before the filing of the petitions an agreement had been reached by those who have been working for a community high school that, in fairness to all of the villages, New Lenox would nominate two members, Manhattan two, and Frankfort three members because of Frankfort's three separate communities. One man in New Lenox withdrew from the running "for the sake of harmony and to enable New Lenox to keep its promise of only putting two men in the race."

Because of the tumult caused by the filing of five petitions from Frankfort Twp., and 3 from New Lenox, Albert Krusemark, Jr., called a meeting of the candidates and their sponsors, Thursday night.

Several candidates were asked to withdraw in the interest of air play and friendly cooperation but none who were approached would agree to.

If enough candidates from one township filed and if these were elected, it would be legal, but, in the minds of most of the people in this area, it would then not be a COMMUNITY HIGH SCHOOL in the true sense of the phrase. All the control would then be in one township and if that was done the democratic way of "no taxation without representation" would be lost.

Mr. J. Scott Perry came to our office Tuesday to talk about the school affair and he stated, in his way of thinking, that if all the school board members should happen to be from one township, that would be alright, as they were elected by the people and to serve equally the whole district. He stated he was for free elections; open board meetings and if any of the above candidates had withdrawn that would be a fixed election.

When candidates were asked to withdraw, it was only done for the sake of harmony and in fair play. The only thing in the minds of those working for this project, is to create the best high school possible and one which would give our children the best opportunities of education, and they believed to bring this to pass as concerns district 210, that each township should have a representative on this school board.

All school board meetings are open to the public, the same as is village board meetings, and if that ever is not so, it is time to look into matters. We know citizens would have a hard time to attend such meetings in the city of Chicago, but not so in this wide area.

Open board meetings, though, does not mean, that any citizen who has not been elected to that board, has the right to interfere in the transacting of that business. They may listen, and later talk it over with board members and give their opinions.

The election will be held next Tuesday, July 31, with the polls opening at noon and closing at 7 p. m.

The polling places are: precinct 1, Frankfort public school, for those who live in the south half of Frankfort township.

Precinct 2, Mokena public school, for all who live in the north half of the township.

Precinct 3, Haven avenue school, New Lenox, for all voters who live in New Lenox township except sections 6, 7, 18, 19, 30 and 31.

Precinct 4, Manhattan public school.

1951 Assessment
Lists Published

This issue of the News-Bulletin contains the published list of both personal property and real estate assessments as made for 1951 by the township assessors of New Lenox and Frankfort townships and returned to the office of the county treasurer, ex officio supervisor of assessments. Since, according to law, each piece of real estate property must be re-assessed every four years and the complete list of the assessed amounts published and 1951 being the year in which such a quadrennial assessment must be made, the presently published list contains every parcel of property in the respective townships as listed. The personal property lists are published complete each year. The assessed values as shown are subject to revision and certification by the board of review before being given to the county clerk for the extension of taxes and the preparation of the collectors' books for next year's tax-bills. The values as shown are on a 19 per cent basis which in turn causes the department of revenue to apply a factor, which for last year was 5.2632, in order to bring the values up to a fair cash value. Any taxpayer who may consider his property incorrectly assessed after reading the assessment list may appear before the Will County Board of Review which is now in session on the second floor of the court house.

County Treasurer Hunte says, "The taxpayer should not wait until he gets his tax bill to register a complaint. It is very difficult, almost impossible, and very impractical to change the assessed valuation once it appears on a tax bill. He should appear before the board of review now to change an incorrect assessed valuation so it may not appear on next year's tax-bill. The same is true in regard to the description of a piece of property that is incorrect or appears on the tax-books for the first time. The time to make the correction, if it has not been done with the Township Assessor, is now so that the tax bills will be made correctly. In regard to the names and addresses to be corrected—each of the banks in the county have forms which may be used to send in corrections to the county treasurer's office or, the better method, by a personal call at the treasurer's office. The entire staff at the Treasurer's Office is here only to help."

Tinley Lions Start
Drive For Needed
Resuscitator

The Tinley Park Lions club at its meeting in Saenger hall July 18, was host to several organization leaders from Tinley Park.

The resuscitator which is being purchased for use in this community was demonstrated and contributions were received toward the purchase of this equipment. The resuscitator will be in the hands of the Tinley Fire department within a month. The value of this equipment in the community was discussed by Lion Charles Libby and Lion Dr. Gonzales. Questions were answered as to the various uses this machine could be put to. It was stated that this might be valuable in the cases of drowning, heart attack, gas asphyxiation and smoke strangulation. It is used equally on an adult or child. Members of the fire department will be trained in the use of this equipment and it will be available whenever emergency arises by calling the fire department.

Lion president Robert Watkins announced that any organization not represented at this meeting and wishing to make a contribution might do so by sending their checks to Lion Secretary Leslie Johnson and making the checks payable to The Tinley Park Lions Club, Resuscitator fund.

The next meeting of the Lions club will be held in Saenger hall at 7 P. M. August 15.

HAVE BAKE SALE SATURDAY

The Royal Neighbors of Frankfort will have a bakery goods sale July 28, at 2 p. m. in the Frankfort Motor and Equipment sales room. The proceeds will be used for the expenses of their convention that will be held in Frankfort this fall.

LIGHTNING HITS MOKENA HOME

During the severe electrical storm in Mokena Saturday night the home of Richard Meuhler was struck by lightning. After a loud crash was heard Mr. and Mrs. Meuhler rushed upstairs thinking that the noise might have awakened the children.

They found the west side of the living room in flames. The table lamp shade the drapes on the windows and the table, on which the lamp stood, were burning. A fire extinguisher was used immediately and the fire was put out without summoning the fire department.

The radio and TV set were damaged and the house wiring which was burned out will have to be entirely replaced. The damage has not yet been estimated.

Circus at Mokena
Drew Large Crowds

The circus, as sponsored by the VFW post at Mokena last Saturday and Sunday was a successful affair, as reported by the committee in charge.

Three performances were given which were each well attended. The program was concluded Saturday night before the storm broke, thus not preventing those attending who had so planned.

Carolyn Dina, was awarded the calf and the pig went to Russell Seavertson, both of Mokena. But the pig—whether it was like the story-book piggie, or what happened to it, no one knows. Anyway, when Mr. and Mrs. Seavertson returned home Monday evening from a trip into Chicago, the pig, which they thought had been well caged, was gone, and has not been seen since.

Commander Schneider of the Post and all the members would like to thank every one in the surrounding area who helped to make the circus a success, by their attendance.

Everyone is full of praise for the circus personnel, saying each actor was tops in their line, their show was clean, and performance, wonderful as well.

The William Martin Post will hold their next meeting this evening, July 27.

WILL CO. FAIR
TO HAVE 3 BIG FEATURE DAYS

The Will County Fair at Peotone, is scheduled for a weekend run again this year after the successful performances on a weekend last year. The dates this year are August 24 through August 26.

The directors have gone even farther than in past years to arrange a varied and interesting grandstand program. The tractor pulling contest proved to be such an attraction last year that the contest has been moved into the arena and will be staged on Friday afternoon.

Because of the many requests from the public, the entertainment committee has arranged a wrestling card for Friday night complete with everything but television. The performers that are under contract to appear on our Friday night show include Mr. America v. Bull Allen, Lone Eagle v. Whiskers Abraham, a tag match between these four, a feature match between the French Angel v. Joe Vinca as well as a midjet match. Any of the promoters in Chicago or else where would be proud to be able to offer a card filled with so many headline attractions.

Joie Chitwood's Auto Dare-devils are moving in for two performances on Saturday, August 25. Joie Chitwood's show was chosen by Hollywood producers to be used in a movie produced during the past year with Clark Gable and Barbara Stanwyck entitled "To Please A Lady." This same thrill show will be shown at the fair. A feature which makes the show even more exciting is the fact that many of the acts are done with 1951 model Ford automobiles.

Bob McKinley is bringing his rodeo for two performances on Sunday, August 26. This attraction is being substituted for the horse show which has been a feature attraction in the last few years. Bob McKinley states that he put on his best show at Peotone the last time he was there. In recent years he has played the Michigan State fair, Kentucky State fair and many others. This indicated that McKinley's rodeo has grown in size and prestige with the years.

ICE CREAM SOCIAL

The Grace Episcopal church at New Lenox will sponsor an ice cream social on the church lawn, Sunday, August 19 starting at 7 p. m. Every one is cordially invited to attend.

Readers View PointHarmony and Cooperation On The New School Board

We had the privilege of acting for a Mokena candidate in attending a "caucus" in Frankfort the other evening. It was called for the laudable purpose of preventing friction between the various communities in the coming election.

A great deal of informative discussion occurred, the gist of which was that only seven candidates should appear on the ballot—for the seven board memberships. The purpose—to have equal representation from Frankfort, New Lenox and Manhattan townships—is understandable and desirable, but the method chosen and insistently urged upon us was not desirable; namely, that Mokena withdraw two of its candidates who were not able to be present and also to induce one from New Lenox to withdraw. This would then leave a slate of: one from Mokena, Lincoln Estates and Frankfort, and two each from New Lenox and Manhattan. Thus there would be no choice for the voter, and no real election, which does not seem to us the traditional American way to select a school board.

Failure to act as proposed carried with it an implied threat of immediately filing 5 additional candidates from New Lenox with the probable result that Mokena and Frankfort would have no representative on the new board. We believe that if 5 more candidates wished to file, they should have been encouraged to do so. An election of this importance should have many candidates.

To my mind the new high school district consists of 4 communities, all represented by a Board of seven members, regardless of their individual home address. It is understood that all of the candidates are men of integrity and therefore, it may be safely assumed each will recognize his personal responsibility to serve the entire district. Our goal is a new community high school—not the election of Board members from certain villages. Let's not be unduly pessimistic over this minor question of the local residence of the board members, but rather grasp the idea that we are all part of an enlarged single district and work for this district.

We believe the voters of our new high school district are of average intelligence and will see the desirability of having each village represented on the board. This should be possible if we all participate in the election and if we all vote for not more than two candidates from any one village. There should have been at least four candidates from each village to make this a genuine election, we believe.

However, if one town ends up with more than two board members while another town has no representatives, the situation, while not tragic, could be remedied by resignation of the excess members and good will among all the towns. Just who should resign could be left to the individual consciences of the board members, and the remaining board members would then fill the unexpired term from the appropriate town by appointment within 30 days. This is permitted in the law, and thus what the voters unwittingly failed to do could be rectified by the board itself.

With no intention of being presumptuous, we would like to suggest to the new board that it consider the adoption of a rule in the near future that no board member could serve more than two successive three-year terms. This is a practice in effect in many districts.

Let's all pledge ourselves to a successful, harmonious board for our new high school district.

On April 18th 1951, a six day old child was taken from her parents to enable the Doctors to force upon the child a blood transfusion.

The baby's parents are Jehovah's witnesses and consider blood transfusion as a violation of God's law and under NO CIRCUMSTANCES would they willingly violate God's commandments. Let those who think that Darrell and Rhoda Labrenz are religious fanatics, and the action was justified, view the facts with an honest heart and reasoning mind:—

God's Word, The Bible, was given to mankind so he could learn to know God and keep His commandments for his eternal welfare. Almighty God's regard for creature blood is very plain in His Word. Do yourself the favor of dusting off the Old Bible and read the following scriptures; Gen. 9:4 to 12, note, this is a perpetual covenant. Then turn to Lev. 3:17 and 7:27, also ev. 17:10, 11, 14. You will note that God specifies, "ANY MAN-EAT THE BLOOD OF NO MAN-EAT THE BLOOD OF NO MAN- (Continued to back page)

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

What's So Funny?

Just finished reading a magazine article that "proves" you and I don't know what's funny.

A bunch of psychologists came to this sad conclusion after telling jokes to college students. Very often they would give out with what they considered a side-splitter—and not get even a chuckle in response. Other times the students would laugh their heads off at stories that weren't considered really funny.

Maybe I'm wrong, but what makes a psychologist such a better judge of humor than the rest of us? If a man gets a kick out of a joke that proves it was funny to him—doesn't it?

From where I sit, when psychologists try to set up a standard for a sense of humor they're getting too serious for me. Stands to reason that different people laugh at different things, just as they have different tastes for most everything. I'm partial to a glass of beer with meals myself—but I promise not to make any "wise-cracks" if you prefer tea.

Why Not Take Our Own Advice?

It is easy to give advice; it is hard to take one's own advice. If President Truman would only follow the advice he has given the American people we would soon get rid of inflation. The President, however, refuses to follow his own advice and as a result the American people continue to suffer from inflation.

President Truman has told the nation's consumers to buy only what they actually need. He has told American businessmen to stop piling up inventories, to increase the efficiency of their organizations, and to make the best use of their manpower. He has asked all of us to work harder and to put in longer hours. He has asked workers to forego wage increases and businessmen to cut down on their profits. Good advice, excellent advice—but unless he follows the advice himself and sets a good example for the rest of us, we cannot cure our inflationary troubles.

The Federal government is the nation's greatest consumer of goods, consuming today about 15% of the nation's total production. The Federal government is the greatest buyer on the American market, buying up great quantities of goods, creating scarcities and boosting prices.

For example, during the last year Uncle Sam bought 68,000,000 can openers to supply the 2,000,000 soldiers in uniform; 6,000,000 gallons of paint, one year's supply to be delivered in 60 days; 1,917,000 pounds of black pepper, almost the entire supply of black pepper on the market. These purchases—and many others that could be listed—created scarcities and sent prices skyrocketing.

The reports of the Byrd Committee and the reports of the Hoover Commission show that Uncle Sam himself is the worst example of waste and hoarding in manpower that can be found in the whole nation. Not only have pay increases for Federal employees been recommended by the Administration but opposition has been expressed to any reduction in the 26 days annual leave and the 15 days sick leave for government employees, and the five-day work week for government employees is to be continued in spite of the emergency.

If President Truman would only act upon his own advice and set an example to the rest of the country, we could lick the inflation bugaboo overnight. And, we could do it without more controls, more regimentation, more restrictions, and more bureaucratic domination. Why not take a dose of your own medicine, Mr. President? Why not follow your own advice?

How The Farmers Feel

A poll taken among Ohio farmers on legislative issues showed 71% of the farmers were opposed to price and wage controls; 91% were against subsidy payments to farmers; 96% were against imposition of ceiling prices on farm products; 89% were against freezing parity for the entire marketing season;

75% were against increased income taxes; 76% favored more controls over credit; and 95% wanted greater production of economic goods.

Does The Farmer Get Too Much?

In a recent report the Bureau of Agricultural Economics shows that, on the average, the cotton in a four dollar shirt brought the farmer 30c; the tomatoes in a 16c can brought him 3c; the corn in a 19c can brought him 24c; the wheat in a 16c loaf of bread brought him 2 2-3c; the pound of onions retailing for 6c brought the farmer only one cent; and the farmer gets less than half of the amount a quart of milk costs the consumer. Incidentally, a pound of steak which sells for $1.25 brings the farmer only 35 cents when he sells it.

Does the American farmer get more than his share of the consumer's dollar?

An Editorial

WE ARE NOT NICE

Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. J. Scott Perry of Mokena came to our office primarily to talk over the Community High School for district 210. We had never had the pleasure of meeting Mrs. Perry before and Mr. Perry had stopped in one evening and visited with us when they first moved to our fair village about two years ago.

We have no fight with the Perry's and think they are a nice couple. But Mrs. Perry it seems does not think so well of this editor and that of course is every one's privilege. But a statement which she made to us, is cause of this editorial. Mrs. Perry told us that the editor of this newspaper has a "notorious reputation of being against all new people" presumably in this community. She also stated she was much disappointed with this village.

I wonder what our many friends who have come into this community even within the last year or two, will think of that? We think we are being enjoyed as well as we have enjoyed these many new people. People who have come into this community new, a number of years ago, are still good friends of whom we are proud.

All communities know that new blood is good for them, providing it is the right kind. Many new people, when asked to serve in any capacity, invariably state, they would like to first live here a few years and learn the functioning of organizations and the people. I am sure all citizens welcome people who are an asset to their community, and none, including this editor, desire to establish a class distinction among our citizens.

When this editor came to this community 37 years ago everyone received her and welcomed her into their community life which she has had the pleasure to enjoy all these years.

Economic Highlights

The major problem now faced by the top defense planners is inflation. That, it is reported, is the view of Defense Secretary George Marshall.

According to the current report, he addressed a grave-faced meeting of the Defense Mobilization Board with these words: "Inflation is getting out of hand. That is especially true as far as the military is concerned. Since Korea, the prices of essential supplies which the services have to buy have continued to rise without a halt. We have lost more planes, tanks and guns by high prices than have been destroyed by the enemy. Unless drastic action is taken promptly to curb inflation, this nation will soon be so weakened that it could not win in an all-out war with Russia."

General Marshall, the report continues, was followed by Eric Johnston, the Economic Stabilizer, who endorsed these views and added, "I just cannot stabilize prices and wages with every group demanding concessions. It's impossible."

High prices have really come with a vengeance to the defense chiefs—as they have to the public at large. As an example, the Army, Navy and Air Forces have asked for budget appropriations which would total substantially more than $100,000,000,000. Under present conditions, of course, there is no chance of such figures being approved. The services will have to get along as best they can with a great deal less. But it is an indication of the way things are going. The military dollar, like every other dollar, is a sad and shrunken thing by comparison with past times. And, to make matters still worse, the machines of war are far more complicated than were those of World War II. The planes and tanks and other weapons of the present make those of the last conflict look almost cheap.

Mr. Johnston has said, with undoubted accuracy, that every major group in the country—business, labor, and the farmer—is exerting pressure on his office for preferred treatment. It seems to be human nature to ask that the other fellow be made to carry the major burdens of inflation and related problems. But, going beyond this, the great bulk of economists, including some of the "liberal" schools, are convinced that the government is the major offender. The "cheap money" policy which the Treasury clings to so adamantly, coupled with the constant expansion of available credit as a result of the sale of ever-increasing amounts of government securities to the Federal Reserve Banks, are believed to be the primary causes of the present inflationary spiral. What has happened is that the amount of money which may be used to buy goods has heavily increased while the volume of goods for sale has not. Under those conditions, prices always rise. So long as this situation obtains, the economists also think, the price and other controls can do no more than moderately alleviate matters, and brake the progress of inflation to only a very limited degree.

As part of the inflation issue, the demand for the strictest kind of economy in government has reached a climax, in and out of Congress. Senator Byrd's documented contention that the proposed budget can be cut some $9,000,000,000 is being taken seriously now.

STUDY CANCER CAUSE—Two biochemists at Stanford University, Stanford, Calif., find new clues to cancer's cause by breaking down component parts of liver tissue. Dr. Clark Griffin (left) and Dr. Lew Cunningham, who have been working under an American Cancer Society research grant, are shown loading the chamber of an ultracentrifuge which spins at 60,000 revolutions per minute, separating the tissue into various parts that can be further analyzed by other processes.

WARM WEATHER DRIVING TIPS—

State Parks Welcome Visitors

ACCESSIBLE TO MILLIONS—The three and one-half miles of beach at Illinois Beach State Park on Lake Michigan is easily accessible to more than one-half of the state's population.

SPRINGFIELD—On the shores of Lake Michigan, Illinois Beach State Park is one of the newest, largest and most popular in the vast network of state parks.

Located in Lake county between Waukegan and Zion, east of state route 42, Illinois Beach State Park provides three and one-half miles of clean sandy beach along the shore of Lake Michigan.

Recreation for the entire family is provided in the state's 23,000-acre park system which each year provides relaxation for more than 9,000,000 visitors.

For children who tire easily of scenic grandeur, there are swings for all sizes, slides and a variety of other play equipment, and sandboxes for the tiny tots.

The attraction with the widest appeal no doubt is the provision which Illinois has made for family picnics—barbecue pits, out-of-door ovens and enough tables to seat 100,000 merry-makers at one time. For those who prefer, some of the 61 state parks and memorials have restaurants with "atmosphere."

Largest of the parks in land area is Pere Marquette, near the junction of the Illinois and Mississippi rivers. A historic highlight of its 5,000 acres is a cross which marks the spot where Father Marquette, Louis Joliet and five companions—the first white men in Illinois—turned their canoes up the Illinois river in 1873.

In the Illinois Ozarks, 12 miles south of Carbondale, is Giant City State Park, especially noted for its rock formations.

During 1950, more than a million persons visited Starved Rock State Park on the Illinois river near Ottawa. Starved Rock, like Pere Marquette and Giant City, has a lodge, guest cabins and restaurant.

Other major parks include Grand Marais, near East St. Louis; White Pines Forest, north of Dixon, and Black Hawk, near Rock Island.

The park with the greatest historical significance, however, is New Salem, 20 miles northwest of Springfield, where Abraham Lincoln spent six formative years of his life. Twenty-five cabins have been authentically restored at New Salem. For eight weeks this summer beginning June 30, a play, "Forever This Land," depicting life in the 1830's, will be presented in a natural outdoor bowl in this park.

Think of Brother

Lesson for July 29, 1951

THE Christians in the city of Corinth were bothered about a number of things. One of them never bothers anybody any more, and yet, strange as it seems, it throws a light on some of the hottest problems a Christian meets.

The Corinthian problem was beef-steak. We have a problem with that too,—that is, how are we going to pay for it? That wasn't the Corinthian problem.

This was away back in Roman times. Every city had its temple where sacrifices were made to the gods. Sacrifices were of all kinds, from flowers to cattle. It was considered rather wasteful, after killing a big bull, to throw the carcass away; so after the ceremonies at the temple, the rose-garlands would be taken off the beast's neck, and the animal would be hauled away to some butcher's shop, where it would be cut up into roasts, steaks and what not, and sold over the counter just like any other meat.

Now some of the Christians began to worry over their meat supply. Suppose I buy a steak in the market (one would ask) and suppose that steak came from a bull or a cow that has been killed as a sacrifice to one of these heathen gods? Won't that make me guilty of idolatry?

Your Conscience May be Clear, but—

SO they wrote to the best man they knew, their old evangelist and pastor, the man who had converted them to Christ and organized their church, the Apostle Paul. They asked him about this and other things; and what he said "I Corinthians" is his answer.

You might think this beef-steak problem trivial, but Paul never handled a trivial problem in a trivial way. He approached the problem in this way: Meat is only meat, he said; it certainly wasn't the bull's fault that he was part of a heathen ceremony. As for the butcher, he paid good money for the animal, in a perfectly respectable business transaction. Then where was the sin in eating such meat?

But wait a minute. Suppose you are dining out, and you happen to know where the meat came from, and everybody at the table knows, and somebody at the table isn't very clear-headed, and when he sees you eating the meat, thinks you must be approving of heathen sacrifices; then what?

Or perhaps, some one else is less enlightened than you; eating such meat seems quite wrong to him, but when he sees you eating it, he may (just to be polite) follow suit, and yet his conscience, not being an educated conscience like yours, will hurt him all the same. So what you do quite freely and rightly, causes another man to go against his conscience.

Think of Your Brother!

NOW, then, Paul says: "If what I eat makes my brother fall, I will never eat meat again, rather than make my brother fall." (American translation.) There you have the Christian principle.

The important question is not, "Is it any harm?" but, "What effect is this going to have on other people?"

We have seen that the basic Christian principle in all human relationships is the importance of personality. If an act, even a harmless and blameless act, hurts persons—makes them sin, makes them go against their own conscience, then the Christian's rule is at once: Don't.

The rightness or wrongness of a thing is not all in the thing itself: it comes from its effects on persons. Now apply this to some of our own problems of social living. Is drinking alcoholic liquor a sin? Is the use of tobacco sinful? Is dancing wrong? (—to name a few.)

Let us suppose, for the sake of the argument, that you are not harmed by such things yourself. It is a fact, however, that some people are harmed by them. Now suppose your act, which is quite harmless to you and done with a clear conscience, influences another and perhaps weaker person to indulge in something harmful to him? Then a Christian will say, as Paul said: If this thing makes my brother fall, I will never do it again. Which, after all, is more important to me, my own freedom or my brother's character?

Without thinking, a person will say, God said not to eat blood; He didn't say anything about blood transfusions. But are not persons fed thru the veins when they are unable to eat? Isn't that just a quicker way of getting the blood into the blood stream?

Jehovah's witnesses know that mankind has a hope of everlasting life in a new world or righteousness. (2 Peter 3:13) does it make sense to sacrifice the opportunity of life in that new world by disobedience to God? Darrell and Rhoda Labrenz love their child and want her in that new world.

If by ignoring The Constitution of The United States, the local courts can take a child from its parents and force such an issue, how do you know they can't do the same towards your children under any other conditions?

Furthermore, why so much fuss over one baby in Chicago, when there are millions in India dying from starvation? This country has wheat going to waste that could be fed to them. Why isn't it shipped there to force them away from communism?

Milton Geuther of Mokena has asked us to publish the following letter which he has received from the Illinois Association of School

Boards at Springfield, in response to his query to them concerning qualifications for school board membership:

July 23, 1951

Dear Mr. Geuther:

In answer to the question as to qualifications for membership on a school board and how these members are elected, there are a couple of points which deserve emphasis. The first is that the voters should seek for these positions, men of ability who are animated by a spirit of service to their community.

The responsibilities of school board membership today call for successful attainment, in one's own line of work as well as a willingness to inform oneself as to the aims of education and a genuine interest in the school program. Unless members are animated by such an interest and a firm purpose to seek the welfare of boys and girls, they are not likely to measure up to their total responsibilities.

In the second place, it should be remembered that school board members are elected at large by voters of the district. Unlike local and township officials, which are often elected along partisan lines, there should be no element of politics whatever in the choice of school board members. Every school board member should be elected on the principle that he represents the school district as a whole.

This is the principle set forth by the State Advisory Commission on School Reorganization and one which has been generally accepted in the communities where most important progress has been made in developing better schools. Those areas where the greatest advance has been made has been where the board has been elected on the basis of interest in the community as a whole.

One thing more might be mentioned. A school board should be both alert and informed and thinking ahead of the community it serves.

In many areas, the school board has welcomed the friendly cooperation of citizens committees and the civi groups. This is as it should be and has resulted in better understanding on the part of the community of its school problems. Thus the schools where this procedure is followed have found no difficulty in winning public support.

Sincerely yours,
Morris E. Houser
Field Secretary

Awnings Keep House Cooler

KEEP Old Sol from beating through the windows this summer, and you'll find home a much cooler place. Permanent awnings not only are attractive, but they have a cooling function.

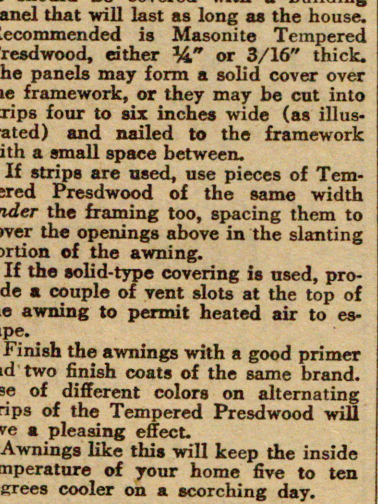

There are several advantages to making your own. Constructing the awning illustrated is simple and it is cheaper than purchasing the ready-made. You may paint the awning any desired color. Each awning should have a simple framework of 1 by 2-inch dressed lumber, with cross-pieces 16 inches apart. It should be covered with a building panel that will last as long as the house. Recommended is Masonite Tempered Presdwood, either 1/4" or 3/16" thick. The panels may form a solid cover over the framework, or they may be cut into strips four to six inches wide (as illustrated) and nailed to the framework with a small space between.

If strips are used, use pieces of Tempered Presdwood of the same width under the framing too, spacing them to cover the openings above in the slanting portion of the awning.

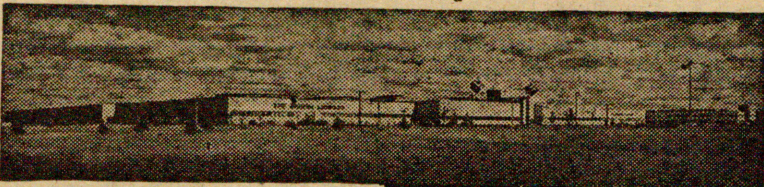

If the solid-type covering is used, provide a couple of vent slots at the top of the awning to permit heated air to escape.

Finish the awnings with a good primer and two finish coats of the same brand. Use of different colors on alternating strips of the Tempered Presdwood will give a pleasing effect.

Awnings like this will keep the inside temperature of your home five to ten degrees cooler on a scorching day.

Most Modern Pharmaceutical Plant In World Opens

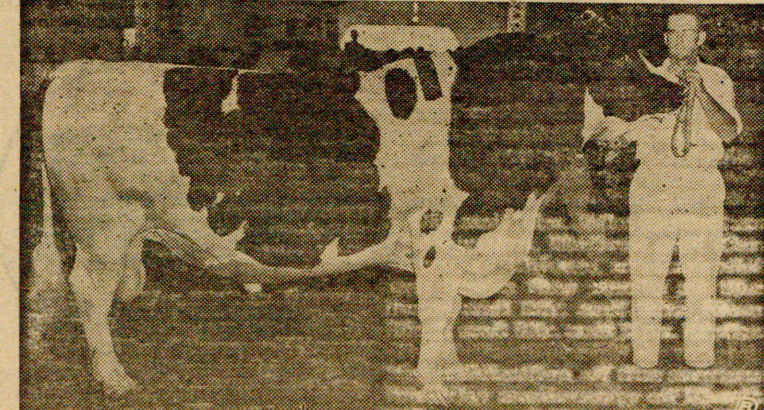

KALAMAZOO — The atom smasher shown is one of the first atomic energy devices to be used in pharmaceutical production. It is installed in the laboratories of the Upjohn Company's new multi-million dollar plant to study methods of finding new drugs and improving old ones. It is known as a 2 million electron-volt Van de Graaff accelerator and throws an invisible stream of electron "bullets." Upjohn scientists are using this atom smasher experimentally to sterilize quickly and easily drugs which would lose their potency when sterilized by heat or other methods.

Almost as precise an engineering instrument as this atom smasher is the new plant placed into operation by Upjohn on a 1,500-acre rural site just outside Kalamazoo. It gives Michigan and the middle west the most modern pharmaceutical plant in the world. Thirty-three acres of floor space are under one roof in the super-modern plant, designed for the utmost efficiency and yet flexible enough to provide room for expansion or to place speedily into production any new drug.

Designed by engineers of the 65-year-old pharmaceutical firm and the Austin Company, which built the plant, the huge structure provides for continuous flow operation, with raw materials entering one side, being processed in a manufacturing area into more than 700 drug products, moving to a packaging area and then, finally, to a finished goods warehouse.

State Fair Offers $318,000 Premiums

Illinois agriculture will again reign supreme when the 1951 Illinois State Fair opens its gates from Aug. 10 through 19. A total of $318,000 in premiums is being offered, the greatest amount by any state fair. Shown in the photo above is "Border Admiral Jewel," the Grand Champion Holstein-Friesian bull of last year's Illinois State Fair.

SPRINGFIELD — With an all-time record of $318,000 in premiums being offered, the 1951 Illinois State Fair is expected to reach its highest agricultural activity this year, its "99th Great Year." The dates of the fair are from Aug. 10 to 19.

The $318,000 in cash awards is the highest ever offered by the State Fair, and the greatest amount offered this year by any State Fair in the nation. The number of livestock entries will probably top the record peak set last year when 7,342 animals were listed.

Illinois farmers have already indicated their extensive interest, and entries in all departments of the Fair are expected to take a sharp rise upward this year.

The Illinois State Fair is the "Show Window of Illinois Agriculture" and presents a complete picture of the State's agricultural expansion and progress. The greatness of Illinois agriculture can be seen daily, from the livestock judging arenas, the farm products exhibits, the many other farm events to the Grand Parade of Premium Livestock on "Farmers' Day," Aug. 17.

There will be six days of livestock judging including beef cattle, dual purpose cattle, dairy cattle, goats, heavy horses, stock horses, light horses, mules, sheep, swine and poultry.

The young farm boys and girls of the State will have their own full program at the Junior Building and the Junior Livestock Pavilion. For these future farmers and homemakers there will be $16,000 in cash premiums.

The premium list for this year has been divided into three sections: one for the senior division, one for the junior division and one for the light horses and stock horses. These premium lists can be obtained by writing the Illinois State Fair, P.O. Box 546, Springfield.

The closing date for livestock entries is July 20, and the closing date for all other departments is July 31. No changes in livestock entries will be permitted after July 31.

The livestock pavilions, pens, judging rings and other facilities are being readied for the Fair. Painting, repairs and many improvements are underway, and the Fair are expected to take a sharp rise upward this year.

How A Combine Works

The harvest season will find more than 650,000 combines harvesting a wide variety of field crops throughout the United States. Much of the progress made in reducing man-hours required to grow an acre of wheat from 57.7 hours in 1830 to less than 6 hours today can be credited to the modern combine. Each of the steps in combining grain is illustrated in the above diagram of the Dearborn-Wood Bros. Combine, prepared by Dearborn Motors. The combine reel (A) pushes the standing grain against the cutter bar (B). The crop is carried by the moving canvas (C) to a rapidly revolving cylinder (D) which flails the grain against the concave bars (E), and threshes the grain from the straw. Threshed grain is delivered to the grain pan (F). Straw and chaff are "walked" out the rear on an agitating straw rack (G). A constant stream of air from fan (H) blows dirt and chaff out of grain. The clean grain auger (I) delivers clean grain to grain tank or to the bagger.

Law On The Farm

By H. W. Hannah
Professor of Agricultural Law
College of Agriculture, University of Illinois (Member of Illinois Bar)

Rights in Ground Water—Farmers and other residents of Illinois are not in the habit of thinking of ground water as a limited natural resource. But within the past few decades several circumstances have combined to create local concern in some areas of the state and to cause the state government itself to institute a study of this resource and the laws which affect its use. Chief among the circumstances have been a lowered water table, unwise pumping practices, increased domestic and industrial use, and the mounting feasibility and possibility of widespread irrigation. In its report on ground water the Illinois Legislative Council stated:

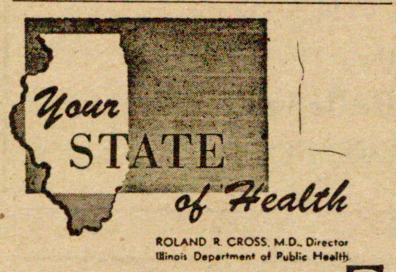

"During the earlier years of our national history very little attention was paid to the use of water for the reason that there appeared to be plenty for all users. During recent years, however, the heavy demands on water supplies—especially subsurface or ground water—have brought about localized difficulties in maintaining an adequate supply for present and future needs, making the question of conservation of sufficient economic importance to warrant discussion of state control and administration."

Legal rights in water have been built up through centuries of usage and litigation. Like many of our basic legal rules regarding property, the rule on ground water is of English common law origin. There is no comprehensive statute in Illinois controlling the use of either ground or surface waters, and the common law rule has been permitted to develop with very little modification.

The essence of this rule is that the owner of land owns all of the water underlying his property. This accords with the concept, so frequently expressed, that the surface owner possesses a column of earth to the center of the earth and a column of air to the sky. Interestingly enough, England has adopted statutory modifications of the common law rule, but Illinois has not. Under our Illinois rule the owner of the underground water supply may use it as he sees fit, even if this means completely exhausting the supply. Hence the water from an underground source underlying several ownerships will go in greatest proportion to the owner who can pump it out most rapidly.

It is obvious that under present law any extensive new use, such as irrigation, could seriously impair existing usage, regardless of the value of the present usage. This points to an early consideration by the state of a statutory water law establishing needed controls and au-

TETANUS PREVENTION

On the basis of existing knowledge about the causes and means of preventing tetanus, there seems to be little reason why some 30 Illinois residents each year should suffer from this disease and from 9 to 10 lose their lives annually from this cause.

The bacteria of tetanus, or "lock-jaw," which are capable of producing in the human body a poison many times more powerful than strychnine are present in soil almost everywhere. The germs are particularly prevalent around farms.

Toxoid Gives Immunity
In the face of this ever present danger, medical scientists have developed two effective preventives, tetanus toxoid and tetanus antitoxin. The toxoid causes an active and rather long immunity. The antitoxin is given to a person after he receives an injury likely to result in tetanus to stave off the disease.

United States armed forces, during World War II, required all their personnel to have the toxoid injections upon induction, and in case of injury gave booster injections. As a result it was reported that tetanus was almost eliminated as a cause of death during the war.

Because the germs of tetanus are deposited in the soil from the excreta of animals which eat vegetable foods, farmers and persons who work in close contact with animals must particularly guard against this disease.

The manure of the barn, soil of barnyards, vegetable gardens, pastures and agricultural implements are often heavily laden with tetanus germs. This makes for an ever present danger to the farmer.

Children Endangered
Children whose play keeps them close to contaminated soil and prone to minor cuts and scratches are also threatened to a greater degree than adults in similar localities.

In a recent study of 56 cases of tetanus in children it was found that 60 per cent of the injuries leading to the disease were mere cuts or scratches, many involving cases where there were no apparent injuries.

The only logical way to combat tetanus is to prevent it. Your physician can protect you by injections of toxoid. The necessary material is available to him without cost from the state Department of Public Health.

In order to know, in more detail, about this disease for the protection of yourself and your family you may obtain the free illustrated booklet "Tetanus" upon request from the state Department of Public Health, Springfield.
